Roycroft Furniture and Other Things

ROYCROFT FURNITURE is individual. It is appreciated for its attractiveness, its purity of design, its symmetrical lines, mechanical construction, and the rich, soft colors in the woods and finishes. These make a combination which brings lasting joy, for each piece is a classic ❧ Our lumber is all specially prepared, being air-dried from two to five years, according to thickness, then kiln-dried for three months at a temperature of One Hundred and Sixty degrees, thus retaining to a great extent the lifelike appearance and natural strength of the woods.

We would ask you not to class our products as "Mission," or so-called "Mission Furniture." Ours is purely Roycroft—made by us according to our own ideas. We have eliminated all unnecessary elaboration, but have kept in view the principles of artistic quality, sound mechanical construction and good workmanship.

WOOD.—We make our Furniture in Quartered Oak, Mahogany from Santo Domingo and Africa, and native White Ash, and we have the following in stock: Oak—dark, medium and light weathered; Roycroft brown, Flemish, Golden, and Japanese gray. Mahogany—dark, medium and light. Ash—brown, Japanese gray and silver gray, all done in dull wax finish, each one emphasizing the natural beauty of the wood.

LEATHER.—All padded leather seats are made of heavy cowhide, colored to match the wood, and by our special treatment are made soft and pliable—practically indestructible—and are fastened on with large-headed copper tacks or nails.

All upholstered pieces have spring seats. The leather is American russet and India cowhide, and is very soft and pliable, and at the same time is the best wearing material known for this purpose.

TRIMMINGS.—The trimmings of our Furniture are all made of hand-wrought copper or iron, by our own workmen, and are very near perfection, both from an artistic and mechanical standpoint.

GLASS.—All small lights of glass are clear French papered stock; all large lights are plain polished plate. All coppered glass is made in design, with clear sheet glass and heavy ribbed copper, being almost as rigid as plate glass.

For lamp shades we use the best imported opalescent glass, which has a wonderfully pleasing color. These are made in both plain and leaded, the latter being made by our own artists from special designs.
